Support Form: Renew or Join and/or Donate Today!

Located on the banks of Lake Natoma adjacent to the historic Rainbow Bridge in Historic Folsom, the 1895 Folsom Powerhouse is one of the area's most important historic treasures. The early history of hydro-electric power generation and transmission across long distance began in Folsom. Through the hard work and generosity of volunteers and supporters, the original powerhouse and equipment used in that effort still stand today.

The Historic Folsom Powerhouse:

- California Registered Historic Landmark No. 633 - (1958)
- National Historic Civil Engineering Landmark - (1975)
- National Mechanical Engineering Landmark - (1976)
- National Registry of Historic Places - (1981)

Who We Are/What We Do: Friends of the Folsom Powerhouse Association, a non-profit, public education corporation, is comprised of dedicated volunteers working with California State Parks to protect, conserve, interpret, and provide education to others about the Folsom Powerhouse and the role it played in early California history.
